ADVANCE IN MOOT COURT COMPETITION

Cal Western's legal eagles

A team of three students is putting the California Western University School of Law on the "legal map of the United States," according to Charles Hoppe, public relations administrator.

The Cal Western team is scheduled to compete against Harvard Law School Wednesday at Washington, D.C. The three students are western regional winners of the Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition.

The 30 top law schools participating have been narrowed to eight. These eight regional winners will compete in the final rounds of the 3-day finals which will determine the national winner to be announced Saturday.

Last month in San Diego the Cal Western team, made up of Myron Nordquist, Brian Hoyle and Richard Speare, triumphed over the law schools of Stanford, the University of San Diego, Boalt and Hastings.

Nordquist, who now makes his home at 603 Bon Air Way, La Jolla, received his bachelor of science degree from Oregon State University. He is a third-year law student who plans to study international law at the University of Cambridge, England, next year after taking his California bar examination in August.

Hoyle is a third-year student who received his B.A. degree from the University of Missouri and lives at 4851 Del Monte Ave., Ocean Beach. After taking his California bar examination he plans to study for his master of laws degree at New York University School of Law.

Speare, a second-year law student from Beverly Hills, will continue his studies at Cal Western next year.

The moot court competition is sponsored by the American Society of International Law. This year's hypothetical case, which the teams have researched, concerns the legal ramifications when one nation constructs an artificial island on a sea.

The regional competition administrator is Dr. S. Huston Lay of Cal Western. A panel of jurists, headed by Supreme Court Associate Justice Thurgood Marshall, will consider the written legal briefs, hear the oral arguments, and judge the competition.

Titlow vows harmony for Ocean Beach Council

By DAVID GREGSON
Sentinel Staff Writer

A personal pledge to maintain order and harmony in the Ocean Beach Town Council has been made by the council's newly elected president, Ned Titlow.

Titlow, who also was the council's first president when the organization was incorporated in January, 1968, was reelected Thursday evening during a regular public meeting of the council.

"I said that the only way I was willing to serve would be with a council board willing to accept majority rule and to work as a body," said Titlow.

Following Titlow's first term of office Michael E. Griswold was elected president. He, however, retired a month later due to conflicting work schedules. Dick Thorpe was elected president last Nov. 7.

Thorpe resigned in February during the heated controversies on the council board. Mrs. Page Cummins, then vice president, has served as president pro tempore since that time.

The election of Titlow was by unanimous vote. Henry J. Fuchs, director, withdrew his informal candidacy Wednesday. Other directors who had been "considering" the office were the Rev. Robert Fehlman and the Rev. Willard C. Laatz, according to Titlow. Most board members were anxious to have Titlow come back to the office of president. "I'm not going to preside over a divided board," he said.

Titlow said the council would use Robert's Rules of Order unless amended by standing rules or bylaws.

Also elected at Thursday's meeting were four new council directors. They are Dave Jackson, a marine biologist; Ted Kistner, a local property owner; Richard Ridenour, an accountant, and Mrs. Shirley Pitts, a housewife. They were elected from a slate of seven chosen by a nominating committee of the council. Other candidates were Mrs. Barbara Kassler, Mrs. Jean Ross, Robert Kenny and Tom Datz. Members of the nominating committee included Pat Piro, Ray Perine, Mrs. Mary Strelchun, the Rev. Mr. Laatz and John Lewin.

The elections were conducted by secret ballot. The new directors also were asked about their willingness to serve as president. All said they were not interested at this time, according to Titlow.

Harold Sulek, a director, handed in his resignation to the council Wednesday.

Titlow said he hopes to see good results from a new council meeting procedure designed "to achieve the greater involvement of the community." It will be tried for the first time at the May meeting. The general public will be able to come to the meeting half an hour before the regular business begins.

OB Council protests supersonics' noise

Hey! The airplane noises over the beach area are bad enough right now without anyone trying to make them worse!

And so the Ocean Beach Town Council has taken a stand against the use of supersonic transport aircraft.

Board members voted this week to send letters to President Nixon and Rep. Bob Wilson (R-San Diego) protesting the development and use of the big planes.

Ned Titlow, newly elected council president, said the board hopes for an investigation and the establishment of standards governing the use of the supersonic planes.

He said he had read recently that there was some possibility of a "greenhouse effect" which could be brought about by fumes left by the planes in the upper atmosphere. Due to low turbulence in some areas, there is a possibility of the fumes remaining and eventually filtering some of the beneficial rays of the sun.

Walsh to tell group how county can help

Ways in which the county government can help the Peninsula Chamber of Commerce progress and solve the problems of the community will be discussed by County Supervisor Jack Walsh during the chamber's next public meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the Half Moon Inn, Shelter Island.

Clark Brott, Chamber president, said Walsh will deal specifically with such issues as youth problems here, the development of parks such as Sunset Cliffs Park, and traffic congestion. "He will have special reference to transportation developments, including the Ocean Beach Freeway and the Rosecrans traffic jam."

Another speaker on tomorrow's program is Kenneth

Hartley, who will talk on behalf of the city charter review.

"Tomorrow will be a particularly good time for interested members of the public to attend one of our meetings," said Brott. "It is also the first day of our week-long membership drive, which will be conducted by two teams on a competition basis."

Brott said Mrs. Emma Bumbaugh will lead a membership drive team on the Ocean Beach side of the peninsula, while Mrs. Hazel Georgan will lead the drive on the Point Loma side. "They will visit the various businessmen who are not members and present them with the purposes of the chamber and otherwise try to cajole them into becoming members," said Brott.

The winning team will get a free steak-and-champagne dinner at Charlie Brown's Windjammer restaurant.

The Peninsula Chamber of Commerce offices are located at 1352 Sunset Cliffs Blvd., Suite A. Mrs. Ramona Peterson, executive director of the Chamber, is there to answer questions about memberships during the late morning and early afternoon hours.

5 choirs set for Pt. Loma song festival

Children's and youth choirs from Point Loma churches will share in a festival of song next Sunday afternoon, April 27, at 5 p.m., at the Point Loma Community Presbyterian Church, 3707 Udall St.

Choirs from the host church, St. Peter's by the Sea Lutheran Church, Bethany Lutheran Church, Sacred Heart Roman Catholic Academy and Point Loma United Methodist Church will participate.

Music will include traditional numbers, plus some of the new anthems and service music in use in the churches. Accompaniment will include organ and folk instruments, including guitar, banjo, string bass and tambourines.

The festival is open to the public.

BUSINESSMEN WILLETTE, MILLER AND MUNSEY
No way to make a living?

Youngsters learn publishing trade

Students at the Silver Gate School are tasting the delights of success in a publishing project which combines a lesson in economics with an experiment in literary creativity.

Teacher Cecil R. Munsey Jr. said 200 copies of a book of original poetry were sold almost immediately following its release Friday. The book is produced by students with money they borrowed from the Southern California First National Bank.

This week Neal Miller, 11, president of the Silver Gate student body, met with Larry Willette of the bank's Midway branch to co-sign (with Munsey) a $250 loan.

"The youngsters could have borrowed the money from the PTA, but they decided to take a real risk as one would in the real world of economics," said Munsey. Sales of the book will go to cover the cost of the loan, according to Munsey. There are 500 books selling for $1 each, so any profit will be used for the sixth grade "graduation" party. "Anything left over from that will go to the new school library," said Munsey.

"This study in economics started several months ago," he said. "In order to have a vehicle of study, we had to have a product. This product was the book containing 80 pages of poetry by 93 students in the sixth grade. The whole book is poems except for introductory pages and space for autographs at the end of the school year."

Half of the book is devoted to haiku poems and the other half is given over to cinquain poems, an American version of the Japanese haiku — and somewhat more humorous, according to Munsey.

"Each student has his picture associated with the poem," he said. Other parts of the book contain pen-and-ink illustrations.

A bank representative said that ordinarily a book of poetry is "no way to make a living," but these youngsters are giving it a try.

Anemones to get help from OB Town Council

The Ocean Beach Town Council is rushing to the rescue of local sea anemones.

Council board members took action this week through the efforts of its beaches, zoning, property and parks committees. The council hopes to protect local tidepools from being totally robbed of life by tourists and visitors.

Al Vallin, chairman of the committee, said the city will be asked to create an ordinance to prevent people from removing specimens from the tidepools. According to Scripps Institution of Oceanography spokesmen, few tidepools with abundant life still exist in the North Shores area. Some good pools at Cabrillo National Monument are protected by the park.

Scripps scientists say the local beaches have been stripped of much of the life that once made the beaches fascinating to shell hunters.

MB races win funds from city

Two events planned on Mission Bay were voted funds by the City Council this week.

The Western Intercollegiate Rowing Championships, set for May 15-17, was funded by transferring $3,000 from one section of the city's budget to the Mission Bay Promotion section.

"This transfer is to provide funds for the city to co-sponsor with Mission Bay Associates, the Western Intercollegiate Rowing Championships," the city manager reported.

Money also was voted to support the 1969 Unlimited Hydroplane Gold Cup Race planned on Mission Bay Sept. 28.

The council authorized transfer of $11,300 to Mission Bay Associates which must pay that amount now to formalize the sponsorship agreement for the Gold Cup Races.

ALL FURTHER EXPENDITURES for the races will be paid with money from the city's 1970 funds and from other sources developed by the Mission Bay group.

The $11,300 being advanced now will be deducted from the city's planned allocation to Mission Bay Associates next year.

The rowing championships in May will include representatives from the Universities of British Columbia, Washington, Puget Sound, Southern California, Oregon, and California at Berkeley, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, Irving and here.

Also participating will be Pacific Lutheran University, Stanford University, California State at Long Beach, Loyola University, Orange Coast College, San Diego State College, Seattle University, Saint Mary's College Santa Clara University and Oregon State University.

THE CREWS WILL arrive in San Diego May 15 and be housed in Mission Bay motels. They will spend most of that afternoon practicing in the bay.

The city will provide public address systems at Bahia Point and Ventura Point and put up bleachers, judging stands and an awards stand.

Races will begin in Sail Bay and finish off Ventura Point.

105 POUNDS OF ICE CREAM!

...And a big spoon

Nine-year-old Clairemont twins, Mark and Flint Yandell, have won their combined weight in ice cream as top winners in the local "I Like Milk" essay contest.

The boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. N. I. Yandell, 5581 Birkdale Way, were chosen from more than 400 entries submitted.

Their combined weight is 105 pounds, as confirmed at a weigh-in conducted by "Dairy Princess" Debbie Murphy.

Twenty-five runners-up were guests at a "Kid-Pleasing Breakfast" at the San Diego Zoo. The menu included hamburgers, milk shakes, peaches and cream, and caramel apples, demonstrating variety in a nutritionally sound meal.

The children also toured the Children's Zoo and rode the new Skyfari.

"We like milk," the twins wrote, "Because it is nice and cool on hot days. It is the easiest snack we know. We don't need a fork, a spoon or a knife. We don't need to cook it, peel it or slice it. (We aren't allowed to use sharp knives.)"

Russell Langlois, a runner-up, wrote: "I like milk because it makes me big and strong and besides, I wouldn't want to put a lot of cows out of business."

"When I drink it," wrote Julie Stires, "I don't have to worry much about some important vitamins."

Banner goes with bowlers

A San Diego 200th anniversary banner accompanied five members of the Home Federal Savings and Loan Association bowling team when they went to Madison, Wis., to participate in the American Bowling Congress tournament this week.

Following the Madison tourney, the team is traveling to Cincinnati and Chicago.

MILK LOVERS MARK AND FLINT WITH DEBBIE
And you don't need to cook, peel or slice it.

Six-year-old Joseph Hull wrote: "My brother likes milk too. It helps by brother's teeth because when he bites me he bites hard." "I like milk because it comes from cows and cows eyes are sad," wrote six-year-old Sharon Lynn.

Runners-up received "I Drink Milk" T-shirts, milk mugs and certificates of commendation. The contest was sponsored by the San Diego Milk Council.

City-run park proposed on Torrey Pines shore

The possibility of making Torrey Pines Beach a city-run shoreline park and swimming area was discussed this week at a meeting of the beaches committee of the Park and Recreation Board.

But no decision was reached because committee members were not sure which land in the area is owned by the city and what parts are leased.

Mrs. Kay Ready, committee chairman, said two organizations of glider plane enthusiasts claim they have a lease for a glider port at the beach.

But they may have the kind of lease that can be canceled on 30 days notice, she said.

The area in question is a section of Torrey Pines Beach north of Scripps Institution of Oceanography.

The committee's discussion of possible uses of the land there was prompted by a request for permission to build a theater on the bluff overlooking the shore. The request came from a repertory theater group at the University of California here.

The city's aquatic superintendent, Roger Chung, said research will be done to determine who owns the land and what leases are involved.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

By
DOCTOR JOHN J. FLYNN
Doctor of Chiropractic

Q—I get these coughing spells all the time. They tire me out and cause me no end of embarrassment. I'm sure I don't have a cold and I quit smoking five years ago. Could it be a holdover from smoking, or could it be caused by my nerves?

A—You've probably diagnosed your problem accurately. I'd suspect that your unnatural coughing is due to a nervous disorder affecting the respiratory tract. Most coughs are induced by an inflamed or irritated membrane lining of the throat, bronchial tubes, and lungs. This irritation is often caused by lack of proper nerve energy flow to the sensitive tissue here. The nerves that regulate the function of the membrane lining have their origin in the spinal column. These main nerve trunklines emit from the various vertebral openings in the spinal column and then branch out carrying nerve energy to all parts of the body. If a spinal misalignment in the upper axis area of your spinal column is present, then this condition could pinch off the main nerve trunkline feeding nerve energy to your throat membrane. Nerve interference here could cause your abnormal coughing. I'd have a spinal examination to determine if this is the basic cause of your coughing spells.

Corrective Chiropractic can restore the displaced spinal segment to its proper position on the spinal column, relieving pressure on the nerve and solving your health problem.

Q—I'm fitting shoes at the store all day, I'm constantly on the go—bending, stretching, up and down the stockroom ladder. I've been doing it for fifteen years. But, lately I've developed a painful case of neuritis in my arm and I'm losing more and more time at work. What can Chiropractic do?

A—A Chiropractor does not treat the symptoms of disease, he seeks to correct a health problem by removing its basic cause. Aspirin and other common pain relievers can provide only temporary relief. Painful neuritis in the arm is generally caused by an irritation of a sensory nerve. The nerve fibres become inflamed due to nerve blockage. This blockage decreases the nerve energy carrying capacity that in turn seriously impairs the muscles in the arm. If not corrected, this condition can cause the arm muscles to become entirely passive. The pain can become excruciating. I'd have a spinal checkup to determine if spinal interference with your nervous system is causing the neuritis in your arm.

Doctor Flynn welcomes your letters on health problems. Mail your question to his office at 6943 Linda Vista Road or telephone for an appointment to discuss your problem directly with him. A package containing two pounds of "oily mess" has been mailed to the office of Mayor Frank Curran with the suggestion that he spread liberal portions of it around his swimming pool to "learn how the rest of us feel who like to swim in the ocean."

Ted C. Kistner, 5134 Saratoga Ave., Ocean Beach, said he collected the mess in 20 minutes last weekend along about 100 feet of shoreline at Ocean Beach.

"It took me considerably longer to get the mess off my feet and hands," he said. The package is a protest, he said, because no action has been taken about the oil pollution of beaches and ocean by the City Council or county Board of Supervisors.

"Operation Future," a series of Sunday evening lectures and panel discussions on key issues involving San Diego, will hold its first meeting tonight at 7:30 at the First Presbyterian Church, 320 Date St.

The series is designed to examine several key issues which are important to San Diego now and will have more impact in the future. Speakers and panels of concerned citizens will conduct the lectures. Audience participation will be encouraged.

"Theology and the Future" will be presented tonight by Dr. Joseph Hough, dean of graduate studies at the School of Theology at Claremont. A panel will react to his concepts of the mission of the church in the city today and in the future.

OTHER TOPICS TO BE considered include "The Future of the Welfare System and Some Alternatives" by the Rev. Antonio Medina, director of Cleland House, a Presbyterian neighborhood house in Los Angeles, April 27 and "Alternatives for the Future" dealing with integration, separation and pluralism May 4.

Also, "The Future of the City and Who Shapes It" May 11 and "The Shape of the Future" May 18.

"Operation Future" is sponsored by the Greater Parish Ministry and Metro, an organization advocating urban renewal. The registration fee for the series is $10 for adults, $15 for couples and $5 for students. Tickets may be purchased in advance or at the door. Further information is available from the Metro office, 234-3158, or from the Greater Parish Ministry office, 286-8080.

THRIFTY

Sally Gerneroy, 1778 Pacific Beach Dr., a student at Mission Bay High School, and Jesse Rondstedt, 4264 Mt. Voss Dr., a student at Madison High, are each given $25 savings accounts by David S. Stroup, vice president of the Southland Savings & Loan Association. They were winners in the annual essay contest of the Savings and Loan Association of San Diego, writing on "The Value of Thrift in a Free-Enterprise Economy." They will maintain their accounts at Southland's Pacific Beach office.

Insurance man schedules talk

John J. Lyman, director and vice president of national corporate relations for Security Title Insurance Co. will speak on "Yield is the Name of the Game" at the Tuesday meeting of the Bay Area Multiple Listing Service, Inc.

Officers, members and associate and affiliate members have been invited to attend the meeting at 8:30 a.m. in the Mai Tai Room of the Calamaran Hotel.

It has been proven once again that necessity is the mother of inventions. Just witness the production of panty hose.

Sugargum, fan palms to beautify highway

One of the largest highway landscape projects ever undertaken by the California Division of Highways has been advertised for bids.

Approximately $650,000 is available for beautifying 3.6 miles of Interstate 5 between the San Diego River and 0.6 mile south of Balboa Ave. The city of San Diego is contributing $176,000 toward the project, which will include an automatic irrigation system.

Eight-lane freeway construction is nearing completion along this segment, and the landscaping is being expedited to cooperate with San Diego to beautify the Mission Bay recreational area for the 200th anniversary celebration.

The 535 trees to be planted will be sugargum, Mexican fan palm and scarlet flowering gum. Shrubbery will include bronze New Zealand flax and lantana, a total of 8,915 plants. One hundred bougainvillea will be used to cover fences. Ground cover includes 453,500 white ice-plant, 965,700 Hahn's ivy, and 7,300 blue lily of the Nile. Lawn areas will be seeded with 1,385 pounds of mixed lawngrass seed.

Bids will be opened May 22 in Los Angeles.

Given medal

T/Sgt. Richard C. Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Campbell of 4726 Appleton St., Claremont, received the U.S. Air Force Commendation Medal at Takhli Royal Thai AFB, Thailand. Sgt. Campbell received the medal for meritorious service as a dental laboratory technician at Los Angeles Air Force Station.

He was cited for his outstanding initiative, professional skill, knowledge and leadership. He is now at Takhli in a unit of the Pacific Air Forces.

'Underground' papers: the right to publish?

By LYLE DENNISTON

WASHINGTON—"Underground" newspapers, the dirty-word journals that are growing in number and in audacity, appear to have a fair chance of withstanding an attempt to suppress them by legal action.

They could wind up with the law on their side simply because they usually do purvey more political criticism than undirected cuss words. At the least, they will cause headaches for judges trying to make decisions against them on the basis of conflicting legal doctrines.

Exhibitionist in content and unabashedly profane, the so-called "underground" press is not everyone's kind of reading. These papers have set themselves up precisely to be "anti-establishment," and their undisguised goal is to overthrow America's middle-class morality.

THEY LIKEN THEMSELVES, SOMEWHAT INEXACTLY, TO the clandestine press of history's genuine rebellions and resistance movements. But whether they are engaged in serious or in mocking revolution, they are fundamentally political journals.

Stirred into existence by anti-war, anti-draft and anti-police fever among the young, the underground papers take political journalism at least back to the roughness of the frontier newspapers of a century ago. They seem almost designed to fit this comment, used five years ago in a Supreme Court opinion discussing libel laws:

"Debate on public issues should be uninhibited, robust, and wide-open. . . . It may well include vehement, caustic, and sometimes unpleasantly sharp attacks on government and public officials."

Perhaps predictably, the underground newspapers have now come under official attack. For example, in Montgomery County, Maryland, a suburb of Washington, the Washington Free Press, already the subject of a grand jury investigation, published a cartoon depicting a nude judge engaged in a private sexual act by himself.

A YOUNG MAN WHO HAD SOLD COPIES OF THE PAPER IN the county was found guilty of distributing obscene literature, and was sentenced to six months in jail.

The county court apparently concluded that, political or not in intent, the cartoon made the newspaper obscene. Such conclusions have not been difficult for judges even in the face of arguments that the Constitution protects freedom of the press. Conveniently, a 1957 Supreme Court ruling offered the judges an easy answer to those arguments: "Obscenity is not within the areas of constitutionally protected speech or press."

But it now appears that the unqualified statement of 1957 might not have the controlling effect it has had, at least when the publication challenged as obscene is a newspaper devoted to political criticism.

The "underground" press is, in fact, a new phenomenon in the field of obscenity prosecutions. By and large, obscenity cases have been brought against books, magazines and films that did not concern themselves with politics and government.

SELDOM, IN SUCH CASES, DID THE COURTS HAVE TO CONSIDER whether the challenged item was entitled to constitutional protection because it contributed to "robust and wide-open" debate on governmental issues. There apparently was no thought to creating an exception to normal obscenity doctrine for profane political commentary.

But earlier this month the Supreme Court may have unwittingly begun working on a legal theory that may create just such an exception for the underground press.

The justices, dealing with the issue of a man's right to have obscene materials in the privacy of his own home, looked back at the 1957 decision saying the Constitution did not protect obscenity. That ruling, and obscenity decisions since then, means, the justices said, that the Constitution does "recognize a valid governmental interest in dealing with the problem of obscenity." But, they added, "the assertion of that interest cannot, in every context, be insulated from all constitutional protections."

IN OTHER WORDS, THE CONSTITUTION MAY PROTECT SOME uses of obscenity. In a footnote, the court even suggested that there may be "legitimate uses of obscenity."

To lawyers defending the underground press, such comments could recall another field of newspaper law in which the Supreme Court has fashioned legal immunity for press discussion of politics and government. That is the field of libel law. In a series of decisions on attempts by public officials to sue newspapers for defamation, the court has reaffirmed a constitutional right of the press to get rough in discussing public affairs.

Under those decisions, a newspaper report or editorial about a government official is subject to legal challenge only if the news account was false, and even then only if the paper knew it was, or did not make any attempt to find out whether it was true or false—and even then only if a lack of deadline pressure allowed it the time to check. A standard of truth or falsity would not be a very precise measure for courts to use in judging whether profane comment on politics is legal or illegal. Perhaps even truth can be put into dirty words.

Well, the demonstration season is about to open. All we need is some prominent citizen to toss out the first brick.

We're not doing enough about auto safety. What it needs is a crash program.

The administration warns of a possible recession. Listen, anyone who's paid his taxes knows the recession is already here.

The Defense Department spends money as if there's no tomorrow. Maybe Mel Laird knows something we don't.

Someday Sen. J. William Fulbright may get the proof he wants that the Russians are planning a first strike. It will come to him in a blinding flash.

It's funny—France has developed a supersonic airliner just when nobody wants to go to France any more.

The major political parties spent $49 million in the last election. With that kind of money, think of the talented people we could have HIRED to run the government.

The way cars are made these days, how does Detroit have the nerve to say "assembly lines"? A better choice of words would be "toss-it-together lines."

When President de Gaulle returned to France from the U.S. there was a huge crowd waiting for him at the airport. They thought he was an American tourist.

Students should give some thoughts to enlisting. The way things are going, the Army is safer than school.

Even if the draft ends, students will still demonstrate. After all, the only alternative is to resume studying.

Negro intelligence inferior? Jensen's thesis misinterpreted

By JUDITH RANDAL

WASHINGTON—Now that several political commentators have discussed the relative influences of heredity and environment in determining intelligence, perhaps it is fitting for a science writer to have a crack at the same subject.

A California educational psychologist recently published a paper in a prestigious academic journal which seemed to relate closely to the continuing controversy over black versus white. Neither Arthur Jensen, a professor at Berkeley, nor the Harvard Educational Review, which published his analysis, intended to make a play for newspaper headlines indicating that Negroes may be born intellectually inferior to whites. But this is exactly what they got from pundits of the conservative stripe.

SIMPLY STATED, JENSEN'S thesis is this: Given equal environment, both prenatally and in early life, black children tend to be at a disadvantage in abstract reasoning, but at a par or even an advantage in associative learning—the linking of one idea to another once the pertinent concrete experience provides the initial stimulus.

The merits of the argument will be discussed shortly. Meanwhile, let it be said that the commentators who have seized on this as unassailable evidence that whites are in general intellectually superior to Negroes have misread the scientific method and, in doing so, are guilty of the same kind of fuzzy-minded thinking they love to ascribe to the "bubble-headed liberals."

THEY SIMPLY DO NOT seem to understand that in the absence of rigorous experimentation value judgments are not a part of science, and that Jensen is less interested in what is good or bad about the intellectual abilities of whites and Negroes than in what is appropriate or inappropriate in the teaching of children from disadvantaged groups.

But Jensen, while apparently misread by some of his interpreters, doesn't seem to be exactly on target either. Nowhere in his 117-page article, for example, does he mention that, for practical purposes, the racially pure Negro does not exist in the United States—making it difficult, if not impossible, to sort out inherited intellectual differences between white and black on the basis of race.

IN THE EARLY 1950S Bentley Glass, then a geneticist at Johns Hopkins University, made a study of patients admitted to Baltimore City Hospital who were classified upon admission as Negroes. He compared their traits in detail to those of West African Negroes and concluded that American Negroes must have inherited at least a third of their genes from whites. Since Baltimore's Negro population is almost certainly typical of the nation's black community as a whole, this in itself calls Jensen's thesis into question.

Jensen also baldly states that it "is simply false" to claim that nothing can be said about the relative roles played by heredity and environment on the basis that interaction of the two cannot be sorted out.

THERE IS SOME TRUTH to this, but to say that it is "simply false" is a gross overstatement. For one thing, almost nothing is known of the biochemical and biophysical processes that occur as learning takes place. For another, no human chromosome has yet been completely mapped and, accordingly, geneticists are the first to admit that they cannot state with certainty how a factor like intelligence, which involves the teamwork of many genes, develops.

Besides, as Jensen correctly points out—but the conservative columnists fail to mention—intellectual potential is conferred at the moment of conception, but its realization is dependent on a number of environmental factors, of which proper nutrition is one.

A CHILD'S BRAIN BY his fourth birthday is 90 percent as large as it will ever be. If his diet is short of calories and proteins before that, no amount of enrichment will enable him to catch up. Until such time as it can be shown that two groups of children—one black and the other white—who have the same nutritional history and equivalent cultural exposure are of a markedly dissimilar intelligence range, the doctrine of inborn Negro intellectual deficit will remain dubious at best.

Given the poverty and poor nutrition of much of the Negro community, the low birth weight of many black infants and the large size of many black families—all factors which have a high correlation with low intelligence among groups the world over—Negroes in no way seem to be at a genetically determined intellectual disadvantage.

Okay, cut out that ★?x!★?x swearing!

By DON MACLEAN

WASHINGTON—The youthful editors of many of our college newspapers are uptight over what they say is their right to use four-letter words in print. I've been looking at several of the tions and I can't remember ever being more bored.

The dirty words, according to the editors, are put there for shock value. Unfortunately, and at the risk of betraying faults in my own character, I must confess that I fail to be shocked.

For one thing, the publications' beastly-word vocabularies seem to be limited to five or six of the most common expletives. And these are repeated to the point of tedium. I charge the student writers not so much with being rude, but lacking in imagination.

And, perhaps, in addition to their sadly inadequate vocabularies, this is the students' other fault: they just haven't got the tone. Frequently they don't even know where the bad word fits properly in the sentence, or where, in some cases, it can even be placed between syllables of a non-aggressive word, just for variety.

THE TRUTH OF THE matter is that it takes a lot of hard living in order to hold one's own with journeymen in the art of swearing—and students just haven't lived enough. In my own experience I remember the Unofficial All-Services Swearing Championships, held at Parris Island, S.C., in the fall of 1951.

Representing my own Marine battalion, and able to cuss continuously for nine minutes without once repeating myself, I was no match for a crusty sergeant major. With sheer lung and word power he was able to rip the treads from a moving Sherman tank. I saw an Air Force crew chief wilt the grass on the parade field with three complete sentences.

A sergeant from Ft. Benning demonstrated how he could turn a recruit's hair white with one 15-second outburst. The winner—for aptness of thought—was a Navy chief warrant officer who used curses he'd learned in Arabian ports.

Compared to men like these, our student editors and their efforts to shock are laughable.

Conservative View

Help wanted: jurist

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

WASHINGTON—Suppose you picked up your paper one day, ran an eye over the classified ads, and blinked at the following notice:

HELP WANTED

Outstndg atty, law prof, or experienced judge sought for nomination by Pres. of U.S. to serve as Chf Justice of U.S., for life term beginning July. Need man btwn 45-55, Prot. or Cath., pbfly from South or West. Must be conservative but not reactionary, non-controversial, recmnded by bar. Sal. $62,500, generous vacation, other perqsts. Fine oppty for right man. Pls. send smmy qualifications, etc., to R. Nixon, 1600 Penn. Av., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20500

You're not likely to see any such ad. The Equal Employment Opportunities Act, to say nothing of propriety and tradition, would forbid it. Nevertheless, this is about what President Nixon is looking for.

In Thurgood Marshall the Supreme Court already has a Negro member; it would be exceedingly unlikely that a second Negro would be considered. In Abe Fortas the court has a Jewish member; in the inheritance of Brandeis-Frankfurter-Goldberg, the unwritten rule is one Jew at a time. Nixon needs a relatively young chief justice because the President would like to help shape the course of constitutional law for the next 20 years.

Geographical considerations have only minor importance, but with Chief Justice Warren's retirement the populous Pacific Coast will lack representation on the court. The South's only representative is Hugo Black, dean of the bench; at 83, he has only a few years to go. New York and New England combined now have four members—Douglas, Brennan, Harlan and Marshall. Stewart is from Ohio, White from Colorado, Fortas technically from Tennessee but more accurately from the District of Columbia. A southern or western nominee would make sense.

THE MAJOR QUALIFICATION, OF COURSE, GOES TO POLITICAL philosophy. If the President's nominee is identified generally with a conservative view of the law—even a moderately conservative view—Mr. Nixon can rekindle the enthusiastic support of the conservatives who produced his victory in November. But if his nominee is philosophically faceless—if he leans toward free and easy construction of the Constitution—all hell will break loose on the right.

Doubtless Mr. Nixon is aware of conservatives' concern, but it may do no harm to emphasize the point. The nomination of a successor to Earl Warren is critical. Conservatives can forgive the President a scattering of liberals here and there in the executive branch—Finch in Welfare, Moynihan in urban affairs, Allen as commissioner of education. They can swallow his advocacy of the nuclear non-proliferation treaty. They can restrain their impatience at his failure to dismantle the poverty program and dispel the mists of Foggy Bottom (the State Department).

BUT THEY KNOW, AS THE PRESIDENT KNOWS, THAT THE high court is different. The nine members of that tribunal, for all practical purposes of public policy, are the nine most powerful men in the nation. On the consensus of five of them, constituting a majority, depends the whole course of our law.

Today's justices cannot be labeled absolutely. Black and Fortas, regarded as liberals, cast a conservative vote now and then. White and Stewart, regarded as conservatives, sometimes join the Warren bloc. Even so, the lineup is generally 6-3 for the liberals. What is needed is another Harlan, with 20 years of strict construction in his future.

Lately the speculation has been that Mr. Nixon is thinking of elevating Potter Stewart to chief justice and nominating Secretary of State William Rogers, a New Yorker, as an associate justice. Conservative reaction is cool. Stewart, at 54, might make a fine chief, but the nomination of Rogers would raise cries of "cronyism." Besides, while Rogers is considered an able man, he is regarded as a philosophical neuter.

In the conservative view, the President could do much better. Perhaps he'll want to consider a want ad after all.

Harris Poll

Baseball less popular

By LOUIS HARRIS

As the 1969 season gets under way, baseball has lost its time-honored position as "America's national pastime." Over the last four years enthusiasm for baseball among fans has fallen off steadily, to the point where this year it lags behind football for the first time.

Back in 1965 baseball held a 13-point lead over football in a Harris Survey of sports followers. Two years later the margin was down to 10 points; a year ago it was seven points. Now football has taken a three-point lead over baseball.

Other highlights of the annual Harris Survey of Sports are:

- Basketball and hockey have held onto their gains of a year ago, but have not increased materially in popularity despite increased exposure on television.
- Bowling has scored a spectacular comeback after a steady decline in recent years.

- AUTO RACING APPEARS TO BE ZOOMING AS A SPECTATOR sport, more than tripling in popularity in the last year.
- Golf also has taken a sudden jump in the latest standing, increasing from three to six percent as the "favorite sport" mentioned by the public.

In the shifting fortunes between baseball and football, the significant change was not a rise in popularity for the gridiron game but a precipitous 11-point fall-off in the number who named baseball as their favorite sport—from 39 to 28 percent.

This year's survey was conducted among a national cross-section of 1,208 Americans who said they follow sports. Here is the trend on the selection of favorite sports over the last five years.

FAVORITE SPORT

	1969	1968	1967	1965
Football	31	32	29	25
Baseball	28	39	39	38
Basketball	12	12	10	9
Bowling	8	4	5	7
Auto racing	7	2	1	1
Golf	6	3	5	4
Hockey	4	4	3	2
Other	4	4	8	14

The current rise of bowling, auto racing and golf indicates fans are broadening their range of interest in spectator sports. This multiple interest and growing competition among various sports was evident when the public was asked to name which sports they follow from a list of 11 possibilities:

SPORTS FOLLOWED

	Follow	Don't Follow
Football	52	48
Baseball	47	53
Basketball	38	62
Bowling	26	74
Golf	24	76
Auto racing	19	81
Hockey	17	83
Horse racing	17	83
Track	16	84
Tennis	8	92
Soccer	6	94

Here is a run-down of sports interests by key groups in the population:

MEN: Football now leads baseball by a sizable margin, with strong support given golf, auto racing, hockey, horse racing and track.

WOMEN: Bowling is more popular among women than men, as is basketball, which many say is the easiest sport to understand.

LOW INCOME: Baseball is still king here, followed by basketball, bowling and horse racing.

HIGH INCOME: ALL SPORTS ARE FOLLOWED MORE KEENLY by the $10,000-a-year income group, but football, golf, auto racing, track and hockey have strong support.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Neo-Nazis crawling all over the nation

By DREW PEARSON
and JACK ANDERSON

Drew Pearson

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — This column has now penetrated the Mafia-like secrecy of a sinister neo-Nazi movement that seeks to overthrow the U.S. government. Already it directs an $850,000-a-year lobbying campaign on Capitol Hill, publishes one of America's famous old magazines, operates a publishing house, controls a dozen "front" organizations, and last year handed out $90,000 to candidates for Congress. Members of this nationwide organization are not goose-stepping Storm Troopers like the late George Lincoln Rockwell's motley misfits, but doctors, lawyers, writers and businessmen from America's upper middle class. They belong to secret cells, where they are known only by code names. They call their subterranean society the Francis Parker Yockey Movement, named for a neo-Nazi philosopher who committed suicide in a San Francisco jail cell in 1960. But they take their credo, as Yockey did, from Adolf Hitler, whose birthday they are celebrating with secret rites today.

THEY SING THE OLD Nazi songs, hoard Nazi relics and display the swastika at their meetings. Their slogan: "Was mich nicht umbringt, macht mich starker" ("What does not destroy me makes me stronger").

They seek the overthrow of democracy in the United States, the unification of Western Europe under a neo-Nazi dictatorship, and an Armageddon with Russia. Just as Hitler boldly set forth his aims in "Mein Kampf," Yockey outlined his strategy for resurrecting Nazism in a pseudo-philosophical book called "Imperium." This has become the "Mein Kampf" of the new movement.

Yockey declared in his book that a massive attack upon Russia across the plains of Europe is the "only solution."

THIS MUST BE PRECEDED, however, by "the complete cleansing of the Western soul from every form of materialism, from rationalism, equality, social chaos, communism, liberalism, leftism, of every variety of money-worship, democracy, finance-capitalism, the domination of trade, nationalism, parliamentarism, feminism, race-sterility, weak ideals of 'happiness' and the like."

Yockey concluded: "The soil of Europe, rendered sacred by the streams of blood which have made it spiritual, is fertile for a millennium."

Religious talk series offered on USD campus

"The Fact of Faith," an adult education program sponsored by the Diocesan Ecumenical and Liturgical Commissions of San Diego, is continuing into a second series of lectures, which began Thursday and will be held every Thursday through May 22.

The series covers liturgy, scripture and morals in separate lecture series, given in De Sales Hall at the University of San Diego, said Dr. John Swanke, general chairman of the adult education program and an associate professor of philosophy at USD.

The Rev. Michael Alcaraz, executive secretary of the Diocesan Liturgical Commission and rector of St. Francis Seminary, is presenting the series of six talks on liturgy.

Father Alcaraz will speak on psychology of rite, Hebrew-Christian origins, early development of Christian rites, principles of reform, the Eucharistic celebration and the sacramental encounter.

Scripture will be the subject given by the Rev. Laurence Dolan, assistant professor of theology at USD. His topics will be revelation as the Word, history of Genesis and its problems, prophets and their relevance today, Psalms as Christian prayer, synoptic Gospels and John, and Epistles.

Dr. Swanke will present the series on morals. The lectures will be concerned with the nature of the moral act, the moral law, the moral agent, the moral act is performed in circumstances, and the goal of the moral agent.

Father Alcaraz' group will meet in Room 235, Father Dolan's in Room 239, and Dr.

will once again stream with blood until the barbarians (Russians) and distorters (Jews) have been driven out. The Francis Parker Yockey Movement was formed after his suicide by the last man to see him alive: Willis A. Carto, founder of the Liberty Lobby, who has written that the United States made a mistake in going to war against Hitler.

CARTO PUBLISHED "Imperium" and, in a foreword, proclaimed his own strategy with startling candor.

"Those who are to save the West," he wrote, "must realize at the outset that only part of it can be saved; that much must be sacrificed and that the resulting structure will be different from the past."

"And although our job is to rebuild, we must not lose sight of the reality, for we cannot rebuild until we have captured. Political power is the essential criterion, not wishes or windbags, and to the goal of political power all else must be temporarily sacrificed."

Carto's secret quest for political power has had astonishing success. While he recruited true believers into the Francis Parker Yockey Movement, he exercised political power through a network of front organizations.

HE TOOK PAINS ALWAYS to keep behind the scenes. A darkly handsome man in his early forties, he has never allowed himself to be photographed. He manipulates his front groups with a hidden but iron hand by controlling the purse strings.

The most powerful front is the Liberty Lobby, which, sav insiders, raised $850,000 last year. Through the Liberty Lobby, Carto furnished research and wrote speeches for a dozen members of Congress. He had almost the entire South Carolina delegation eating out of his hand, including Sen. Strom Thurmond, Rep. Mendel Rivers, Rep. Albert Watson and Rep. W. J. Bryan Dorn.

Several Louisiana congressmen also were patsies for the neo-Nazis, including Rep. Otis Passman, who signed a letter soliciting subscriptions to the Liberty Lobby's newsletter; Rep. Joe Waggonner Jr., who accepted a "Statesman of the Republic" award from Liberty Lobby, and Rep. John Rarick, who spoke at several Liberty Lobby rallies.

OTHERS WHO ACCEPTED awards and gave speeches for Liberty Lobby were Reps. E. Y. Berry of South Dakota, John Dowdy of Texas, James B. Utt of California, and John Bell Williams, who quit Congress to become governor of Mississippi last year.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Utt represents La Jolla and part of Pacific Beach.)

There is no evidence that any of these congressmen knew of Carto's neo-Nazi background, although we reported as early as Oct. 28, 1966, that Carto was an admirer of Hitler. Our assertion was based on his private correspondence, in which he called Hitler's defeat a tragedy for Western civilization.

CARTO ALSO SET UP the United Congressional Appeal, which raised $90,000 for congressional candidates during the 1968 campaign. As treasurer, he personally signed the checks.

He also has purchased control of the American Mercury, a magazine whose name was once a household word in America. His Noontide Press in Sausalito, Calif., publishes pseudo-intellectual, neo-Nazi books. The latest, "The Myth of the Six Million," seeks to prove that Hitler's massacre of six million Jews was all a Jewish myth.

True to his word, Carto has captured enormous political power. If the Communists had ever been as successful on Capitol Hill, the scandal would have rocked the nation.

DID YOU EVER EAVESDROP?

It was a little embarrassing the other day to overhear two former patients discussing what our "SATURATION THERAPY" treatment had done for them. The wife told about her attacks of dizziness that had been eliminated, how she is now full of energy and vitality and feels wonderful. The husband told how he had eliminated his stomach pains which were unbelievable and had been previously diagnosed as an ulcer. This was spontaneous, sincere praise; my embarrassment soon turned to a feeling of pride when I heard how these people, and many others, are finding new health through our Natural Saturation Treatment.

What Is Saturation Therapy?

Our successful Saturation Therapy is a complete health program, a treatment of the body as a whole that stresses elimination of body toxins, correction of faulty nutrition assimilation and a out-of-balance nervous system. On Chicago

Seaman Apprentice Eric R. Mitschke, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Mitschke of 5187 Constitution Rd., Clairemont, is serving aboard the guided missile cruiser USS Chicago off the coast of Vietnam. This is the Chicago's third combat tour with the U.S. Seventh Fleet, providing air defense for U.S. and Allied ships and aircraft operating off the coast of South Vietnam.

Stitchery class is under way

A class on adjusting commercial sewing patterns for personal fit started at Midway Adult High School, 3249 Fordham St., Friday and will continue until June 20. It is part of a tailoring class taught by Mrs. Margaret Briers.

Further information is available from Mrs. Briers, 222-1380.

Duty at El Toro

Marine Sgt. Paul D. Henson, son of Mrs. Frances J. Carmichael of 4810 Iroquois Ave., Clairemont, is serving with Marine Fighter Attack Squadron 323 at the Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro. The squadron recently returned from a deployment at the Marine Air Base, Chu Lai, Vietnam. While in Vietnam, his squadron, using the F-4B "Phantom II" aircraft, flew 17,400 combat missions.

Local men return from Vietnam combat

That roar of planes overhead Thursday was fighter squadrons off the carrier Coral Sea, coming home to Miramar Naval Air Station from seven months of combat in Vietnam.

Light Photographic Squadron 63 flew in with them, under command of Lt. Cmdr. S. W. Betts of 2843 Nansen Ave., University City.

This is the fourth Vietnam tour for Fighter Squadron 151 and the third for VF-161 in their F-4 Phantom jets.

They are commanded respectively by Cmdr. Russell E. Davis of La Mesa and Cmdr. Roger E. Sheets of 5415 Sandburg Ave., also of University City.

Before the bombing halt Nov. 1, the squadrons' major targets were the Vinh and Thanh Dam highway ferries, Trung Hoi highway segment and the Truong Xay "choke point."

The Navy's last air strike against the north, when the fighters destroyed three gun-sites on the island of Hon Mat.

Since the halt, they have concentrated their efforts against the lower part of the Ho Chi Minh Trail, destroying trucks, ammunition dumps, bunkers and storage areas.

The two squadrons carried out more than 3,100 combat missions and dropped some 1,242 tons of bombs on targets during the deployment.

Business internships are offered by college

The "young intern" you meet on the San Diego Community College's campus may not be able to bandage a hangnail for you, but he may be able to tell you where to get the best buy on bandages. This is because he is an SDCC intern in one of San Diego's retail businesses.

This work internship gives the student more than financial gain—it gives him an opportunity to evaluate his chances of success in his chosen career.

The internship is a result of a significant change in SDCC's marketing curriculum, for which Maclelland Hartley, teacher coordinator of distributive education, in cooperation with the larger community has developed a new marketing curriculum for San Diego Community Colleges, part of San Diego City College.

The "new" is the counseling, work experience and choice of area of specialization given students who plan a major in marketing.

"Marketing is dynamic," says Hartley. "The accepted approach to supervisory and management problems in all areas of distribution will become more demanding, more exacting and more volatile (in method and perspective) in the immediate future.

The techniques that have been developed in the processing of data have also created needs in the mid-management and supervisory levels of marketing. All these changes, in addition to the natural growth that is taking place in an expanding economy, have prompted the development of this marketing curriculum.

The San Diego Community Colleges marketing program is designed for the student interested in marketing as a career and is tailored to develop vocational competency in one of five areas of specialization: general sales; merchandise (buying); retail management and control; sales promotion; and interior decoration.

The curriculum is centered around cooperative work experience and contains all of the requirements necessary for graduation with either an associate in arts degree or a certificate of proficiency.

Spanish flavor planned for Del Mar exposition

The Spanish-Mexican flavor that has been the Southern California Exposition's trademark over the years will be accentuated in recognition of San Diego's 200th anniversary during this summer's 12-day exposition June 25-July 6 at Del Mar.

"As everyone in this area knows, the exposition has always had a strong flavor of our area's heritage—in our architecture, and through Don Diego, symbol of our fair," says R. J. (Mick) O'Connor, exposition manager.

"We intend to implement that image this year, to honor the founding of San Diego, in a number of ways."

The 1969 exposition's main gate will feature a mission facade, and a rotating "coin," 12 feet in diameter, which will bear the exposition's Don Diego on one side and the 200th insignia on the other.

"Our theme naturally will be the 200th anniversary, and this will be carried out in many exhibits, primarily in Exhibit Hall. There our own display will depict the raising of the cross on Presidio Hill—the historic act July 16, 1769, that marked San Diego's founding," O'Connor explained.

The flower show will have a strong early-day flavor in the area fairgoers walk through entering or leaving the grounds.

Other 200th evidences on the fairgrounds will be: new mission-style ticket booths, a Mexican cantina in the Plaza de Mexico, and a booth selling artificial 200th flowers.

O'Connor pointed out that the exposition has its own anniversary this year — the 80th, although it was not always known by its present name.

The first annual "Agricultural and Horticultural Fair for the County of San Diego" was held Sept. 22-23, 1880, at National City, under the auspices of the National Ranch Grange.

The present 22nd District Agricultural Association, which now sponsors the exposition, wasn't formed until 1889.

Rental owners group plans dinner meeting

The local Apartment and Rental Owners Association (AROA) will hold a dinner meeting in the dining room of the Southern California First National Bank Thursday.

Starting at 6 p.m. will be a half-hour pre-dinner round table session on general maintenance problems. Moderators will be R. J. Allyn and L. Kim Arnold.

Richard G. Schneider, a sales representative in investment properties for Coldwell, Banker & Co., will talk on "Profit Opportunities in Apartment Development."

G. Wesley Harker, AROA president, said the public is welcome to attend. Reservations are necessary, and will be taken through Tuesday at 239-9211.

Talent show slated to aid 'black' exhibit

A "mixed bag" show of talent, for the benefit of the upcoming "Black Arts Rediscovered" exhibit, will be held at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday in Revelle Commons at the University of California here.

The benefit show will include at least eight individual musical acts and a light show. Admission is $1.50 for the general public and $1 for UCSD students.

"Black Arts Rediscovered" is a major exhibit of Afro-American cultural traditions co-sponsored by the La Jolla Museum of Art and UCSD and scheduled for the museum next February. The exhibition is being organized to illustrate the development of black art from its African background to its subsequent influences on European art and its final emergence as a new art in America.

Proceeds from the benefit will be used to help defray exhibition costs.

Jewish forum sets speaker

Dr. Saul H. Karlen, a psychiatrist, will deliver his second lecture in the College of Judaism Forum tomorrow at 9 p.m. at Congregation Tifereth Israel, 2930 Howard Ave. His topic will be "The Dynamics of Survival."

Dr. Israel H. Weisfeld, director of the Bureau of Jewish Education and College of Judaism, will serve as moderator. Information is available by calling 583-3300.

Outdoor choir concert today

The Salk Institute will host a free public outdoor multi-color concert today at 3 p.m. The event is co-sponsored by the La Jolla Civic Orchestra and Chorus Association and the music department of the University of California here.

The La Jolla Civic Chorus, the Muir College Chorus and the Madrigal Singers will combine in the institute courtyard, overlooking the Pacific, to present 17th and 18th century music in a "21st century setting."

Final dialogue slated by UCSD

A nine-part dialogue on relations of the University of California here and the community will close Tuesday with a talk by Dr. William McGill, UCSD chancellor.

His topic at the 12:30 p.m. meeting at the Torrey Pines Inn will be "The Chancellor, the Community, and Further Dialogue."

Tee time tales test tourney's tap temper

Western League coaches will face each other in serious competition, next Sunday during the fourth annual San Diego Coaches, Umpires and Backers golf tournament at San Simeon's Tecolote Canyon course.

THE AFFAIR GETS UNDERWAY with a 9 a.m. shotgun start with players already positioned on every tee. University's multi-talented general assistant for everything, Michael McDonald, is serving his fourth term as tournament director. Pairings are his bag. McDonald had the difficult task of finding playing partners for his boss, Robert (Bull) Trometter. It isn't that the Bull doesn't play well, but he demands at least five strokes a side and that's a lot to give a man who shoots in the high 70's.

DEFENDING CHAMPIONS in the coaches' bracket come from Mission Bay High School. Mesa, City College, San Diego State and University of San Diego are all vying in the college division. This is the beginning of the scouting, raiding and lying period of football long known as pre-season conditioning.

THE SAN DIEGO ROCKETS will be represented with the likes of Big Jack McMahon, the Rocket's Red Glare, and team captain Don Kojis taking a hand in the festivities. Pacific Beach resident and sports broadcaster of considerable spirit, Al Coupee will add his being to the fun and frivolity. "Tis said that Coupee covers a course with a driver, a wedge and a putter, and that he hits long with the wood, long with the wedge and, sadly, also long with the putter.

THE SENTINEL WILL BE represented by its sports editor, who plays the game with enthusiastic abandon. No less a luminary than golf great Billy Casper once offered the following advice after watching yours truly beat a few bananas into the trees. "Why don't you," he suggested, "give up the game."

New coach, schedule face Cal Westerners

Marv Braden, new football coach at Cal Western, will greet 23 lettermen from last year's team when spring drills begin tomorrow.

Braden said workouts will run over four weeks with emphasis being placed on a new system of play. He said he expects to use the Pro Slot I with variations.

Heading the list of returnees is quarterback Wayne Clark, who completed 122 of 282 passes for 1989 yards and 14 touchdowns. He was selected to the All District III NAIA team along with Gary Dalton, 215-pound offensive tackle, who also returns.

Gary Miller, 205-pound offensive center, and Jim Anderson, 185-pound defensive end, both gained second team NAIA recognition, and Eric Widmark, 6-2 end, who scored 30 points and caught 39 passes for 661 yards, received honorable mention.

Also back again is Bill Nugent, the leading ground gainer for the Westerners with 447 yards, and Dale Curtis, the one-armed place-kicker who scored 40 points, including a 45-yard field goal. In one game last season, Curtis kicked five field goals.

Stairway construction has started at Ladera Street, and is scheduled to be completed by mid-May. This is the final stage in a series of developments to provide access to the water for surfers, skindivers and the general public.

Surfers accustomed to using Ladera Street for access are encouraged to give their full cooperation so that construction can proceed without interference.

THE FIRST MAJOR SURFING contest to take place locally will be the Oceanside 4A Invitational scheduled for May 17 and 18, 1969. An alternate date has been set for May 31 and June 1 should the surf conditions be poor. San Miguel or Three M's is the site for the Cinco de Mayo Surfing Championships set for May 3 and 4. This contest is open to men 18 and over, juniors 17 and under and women. Entries must be in no later than April 25.

ALL SINGLE A SURFERS of the Western Surfing Association will have an opportunity to do their stuff May 4 at Del Mar. This is the first of three contests of the "Triple Crown 1A contest." Windansea juniors are reminded of a meeting at Santa Clara Point, Monday, April 21 at 7:30 p.m.

The Sports Scene

With JOHN E. WIRGES
Sentinel Sports Editor

How about a well deserved "hats off" to officials, managers and tourney brass for an excellent effort in the National AAU Boxing Championships held at the Sports Arena over the week. The matches were the best ever viewed by this corner and, as usual, most of the hard work was done behind the scenes.

A large chunk of the success for the show belongs to the man who prepares and sends the fighters into the rings at a demanding and never relenting pace.

Bob Barlow, who served as official Clerk of Boxing for the tourney, was responsible for getting the right fighter into the right ring at the right time. Whatever magic he used proved its value. It worked.

ONLY ONE FIGHTER GOT INTO THE WRONG RING on opening night, though several KO victims claimed the working space assigned them was the wrong place to be. Barlow and his crew of 14 prepared more than 130 boxers for 65 bouts. Preparations included getting each fighter's hands properly wrapped, inspected and gloved. Each fighter was then taken, with his manager and trainer, to his assigned corner. It all was done smoothly and efficiently.

Barlow delivered the kind of operation promoters often dream of but seldom receive.

THE FIGHTERS WERE QUITE IMPRESSED WITH the efficiency of the production. Many young boxers are testing their mettle against the brutality that is the fight game. They are valuable properties. Success here may lead to a professional career. The game is tough enough without energy-sapping delays and emotion-building bungling. All had kind words for the Sports Arena operation.

Typical of the young tigers visiting San Diego with their future in their fists was Roy Edmonds of New York City. A middleweight, Edmonds had to earn his shot at the National AAU finals by winning New York's city-wide elimination tourney. He had to battle his way through a field of 40 other 156 pounders. For the winner, that usually means five fights in three days.

"It's great here," said the young New Yorker. "You move right along."

EDMONDS' MANAGER, BOB JACKSON, MADE THE same claim. "I'm really impressed with things out here," he said. "The two rings make a difference; the boys don't get tired out just waiting."

Jackson feels his fighter may have a chance to rank with the top pros someday. "He's a hard worker, both in the gym and doing his road work. He runs about three and a half miles a day and spars four or five rounds in the gym."

The manager and the fighter agreed that making it big in the pro ranks calls for a long and dedicated effort. They feel Edmonds has the tools for the job. He is a smooth moving, hard hitting, aggressive type with the natural polish of a winner. He may be six months to a year away, but both feel his name will someday be included among the best in class.

In the fight game there is an old adage that goes, "You've got to prove it in the ring." Bob Jackson, Roy Edmonds and all the fighters and managers from all parts of the country know and appreciate the problems of running a large tournament. They know the waiting and tension can build up to defeat a fighter. They all know that efficiency from the guy running the show gives every boxer his best chance. The experts came back to thank Bob Barlow. The National AAU Clerk of Boxing rates high with the fighters he directed.

BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

New college site urged

The board of trustees of the California state college system will be asked by the San Diego Chamber of Commerce to direct a study immediately toward selection of a site or sites within this county for a second state college campus.

Chamber directors this week approved a recommendation of the organization's education committee urging the trustees' immediate study of a second site.

The Chamber's message also said, "We further recommend that the Coordinating Council for Higher Education immediately lift the 'freeze' on advance planning for state college campuses."

William B. Rohan, chairman of a subcommittee of the education committee, who presented the recommendation to Chamber directors, pointed out that San Diego State College (SDSC) is projected to exceed its current enrollment in 1973-74 and that by 1977-78 could have the largest potential excess demand of any state college in the system.

Expansion of the present SDSC campus would be prohibitive in cost, Rohan said. Additional problems are posed, he said, by parking needs and traffic congestion with the concentration of cars in one area.

"The situation at San Diego State now emphasizes the need for advance planning for a second state college," he contended. "A master-planned college with a planned attendance of 20,000 full-time student equivalents would require about 250 acres, which would include 50 to 75 acres usually needed for academic buildings, physical education facilities and parking.

"Such a parcel of land obviously must be purchased in advance of the actual need necessary by the present college's expansion moves. Hence it is imperative that planning begin on site selection and purchase arrangements."

Rohan said it has been estimated by state college officials that following authorization of a college by the Legislature it would take five to seven years to open school doors to students.

"Further emphasis," he said, "is given to this need for anticipating the need for an additional institution well in advance of the actual need when one considers the savings which such planning can mean in financial terms." He said the San Diego Unified School District, by the use of options and deferring the actual purchase of land, has saved as much as 80 percent of the value of land at the date of acquisition.

Rohan said more detailed data regarding projected growth necessary to determine the greatest future need for a college campus. "We should not now point even tentatively to a location for a second state college. However, it is obvious that such an institution is soon to be demanded by the growing population here, and it is imperative that advance planning and appropriate action move now to meet this demand."

Ice cream wagons quieted

The arrival of the ice cream wagon, a highlight of children's summer days, no longer will be heralded by loud tinkling music in San Diego.

The City Council passed an ordinance amendment Thursday to restrict the noise produced by sound trucks, in particular ice cream vending vehicles, and the frequency with which these vehicles tour the same street.

A city manager's report to the council said "We believe adoption of this amendment to the (municipal) code would alleviate some of the problems about which we now receive so many complaints."

"The ordinance provides a better sound control over the equipment and also limits the operations of these trucks on the same streets in a given period of time."

THE REPORT SAID A draft of the ordinance was mailed to the well known ice cream vendors of the city.

"A reply has been received from only one vendor, that being the major one servicing the city of San Diego," it continued. "This company indicates in a letter that they are in agreement with the contents of this ordinance."

In other action Thursday an ordinance about cabaret employees was referred to a council conference.

The proposed ordinance would provide that all employees of a cabaret must be at least 21 years old.

The existing ordinance provides that entertainers in a cabaret must be over 21, but that some employees may be younger.

Councilman Leon Williams commented that it seems odd youths under 21 should be required to take up arms in defense of their country but be kept from entering a cabaret.

HE SAID HE WONDERS which would be the worse experience.

Councilman Helen Cobb said she questions the value of not allowing entertainers under 21 to perform in cabarets because this type of opportunity has given many young performers a start.

The councilmen also mentioned the expense to cabarets of hiring only persons over 21 for dishwashing and other such positions.

Is on McKinley

Ship's Serviceman Frank I. Gay, USN, of 4731 Norwalk Ave., Clairemont, is serving aboard the amphibious force flagship USS Mount McKinley in the Pacific.

During the ship's deployment, crewmembers have visited the ports in Hawaii, the Philippines and Okinawa. During her deployment off the coast of Vietnam Mount McKinley served as an amphibious force flagship for Rear Adm. W. S. Behrens Jr., commander of Amphibious Force Seventh Fleet.

Ends training

Aviation Anti-Submarine Warfare Technician 3/C Larry W. Griffin, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Griffin of 3485 Ruffin Rd., Kearny Mesa, has completed his two-week active duty training with his squadron at the Naval Air Station, Key West, Fla. The primary goal of this year's training was to indoctrinate the squadron's pilots in the new SH-3A "Sea King" jet helicopter.

PERCEPTIVE

Aid for Chicanos asked of Chamber

Directors of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce this week were presented the broad outlines of problems confronting Americans of Mexican descent and were asked to support establishment of two facilities intended to improve the social and economic lot of that minority group.

Two speakers described what they considered "major problem areas" for Americans of Mexican descent and asked for support in establishment of a "communication center concept" and formation of a public service agency "analogous to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) and the Urban League" which would be oriented "toward the universal needs of citizens of Mexican descent."

JOHN BARENO, ASSISTANT coordinator of the Mayor's Council on Youth Opportunity, and Joe Casillas, a member of the Mayor's Committee for Jobs, were the speakers.

Illustrating their remarks with charts, the speakers said the average education of local Mexican-Americans is 8 1/2 years and that less than one percent attend colleges or universities. Language and cultural differences also provide problems, they declared.

Bareno said this group comprises 39 percent of the local unemployed and that manpower programs have been deficient in dealing with their problems.

"Most critical," he said, "is the lack of information about education and the lack of information and understanding of democratic processes" for the minority he represents. He also said there is a definite lack of information regarding the free-enterprise system and how the American of Mexican descent—"the name we prefer until we just become known as Americans"—fits into the picture.

BARENO AND CASILLAS said the establishment of a "communications center" would serve a three-fold function:

- Information about events occurring at various levels and affecting the Mexican-American could be collected and recorded for use by the total community.

- Information relating to the minority group could be collated and disseminated for the specific interests of various organizations and individuals. Examples were given as information on employment and educational opportunities, "a clearinghouse aspect of the communications center."
- Information of intelligence be not only collected and categorized but disseminated to the community at large. A publication would be developed to provide intra-group communication. Press releases and documentary material would be furnished news media—"the public relations aspect of the concept."

"IN A COMBINED STATEMENT to Chamber directors, the 'communications center,' or who would comprise at least the nucleus of an agency analogous to the Urban League or NAACP, we are convinced they must be professional persons. We will require people who could communicate effectively in oral and written form. We want persons who will present only a positive image of what the American of Mexican descent is, thinks, feels, etc."

"Our experience with 'war on poverty' agencies has cautioned us against relying on ignorant or uninformed persons for staff members. We want to use only persons who are effective workers and have a sensitivity for the problems of the entire group of 'La Raza.'"

Both speakers said they had "done a little dreaming" about the "communication center" project, "and we would hope we could develop a nationwide organization as well respected and effective as the Urban League or NAACP."

Job Fair urges business to 'give a damn' for kids

Finding summer jobs for disadvantaged youth is the purpose of the Job Fair set for June 4 at the downtown Community Concourse.

On that day, employers and several thousand prospective employees will meet for interviews and hiring on the spot.

Contacts already are being made to get job commitments for the summer, according to Fair chairman Sid Gillman, general manager of the San Diego Chargers.

The San Diego Junior Chamber of Commerce is visiting employers in the city and county, telling advantages of the Fair and getting pledges of employment.

"Give a damn... give a job" is the campaign's slogan.

Gillman said this week that there are thousands of youths, boys and girls, who are disadvantaged—many through no fault of their own.

And they often feel nobody outside of their world really cares—gives a damn.

San Diego can show them it cares by making it everybody's business to get the youths jobs for the summer, he said.

The Job Fair is a cooperative effort of many San Diego groups and individuals.

tion, a group of business, labor, government, religious, civil rights, communications and education leaders pledged to improve local unemployment problems. Chairman of the Coalition is Clinton D. McKinnon, owner of the Sentinel.

Also active in the Fair is the National Alliance of Businessmen (NAB), a program in which private industry and the federal government cooperate to provide jobs for the hard-core unemployed. J. Floyd Andrews, president of Pacific Southwest Airlines, is NAB's San Diego County metropolitan chairman.

The objective of the Fair, Gillman said, is "to find a job for every disadvantaged young man or woman who wants to work this summer."

The Job Fair also is designed to focus the community's attention on hiring the disadvantaged, according to Lt. Gen. Victor Krulak (USMC ret.), a member of the steering committee coordinating the Fair.

Any businessman, firm or individual with one or more summer jobs to be filled can participate in the Job Fair by calling Colin Wied, chairman of the Jaycees' Job Fair committee, at 234-7279.

The main thrust of the program is to get jobs for the entire 12-13 weeks of the summer, not one-day car-washing or yard-cleaning spots.

It is hoped that every youth who attends the Fair will leave it with a summer job. Interviews, counseling, referrals and signups all will be handled during the one day.

For the first phase of hunting jobs for the Fair, the "Give a damn..." part of the slogan will be used alone on bumper stickers and billboards for its impact.

The slogan was selected for its eye-catching value after much discussion and ministerial approval.

The slogan will be expanded later by adding "Give a job."

CIC to be financed by county

San Diego County has agreed to help finance the Citizens' Interracial Committee (CIC), previously supported only by the city, for the rest of this fiscal year.

If the CIC can prove it adequately represents all minority groups, the county will continue to finance it next year, the board of supervisors decided.

Under an agreement approved this week the CIC will get $35,000 from the county for the rest of the 1968-69 fiscal year, which ends June 30.

The city is contributing $80,000 during 1968-69.

Supervisor Jack Walsh suggested the county take over the entire financing of the CIC. He said this would be logical because the property tax of the county taxes everyone who might benefit from the CIC.

Supervisor Henry Boney said he hopes the CIC reorganizes itself to represent all ethnic groups so the county can continue aid.

There have been complaints from some Mexican-Americans that they are not represented in the CIC.

'Golden Man' award presented at dinner

David H. Garfield, San Diego real estate developer and community worker, received the Boys' Clubs of San Diego "Golden Man and Boy" award at a $100-a-plate dinner at the Hilton Inn Thursday night.

For outstanding contributions to the community and its youth, he received the award from Clinton D. McKinnon, owner of the Sentinel and last year's recipient of the prize.

Past awards have gone to O. W. Todd Jr., James C. Copley, George A. Scott, Murray D. Goodrich and Robert Breitbard.

Richard L. Vaughan, presiding judge of the Juvenile Court, was master of ceremonies, and among theatrical personalities participating in the program were singer Frankie Lane and actor Preston Foster.

Proceeds of the dinner will help finance boys' club activities for a year.

Garfield, who lives at 1722 Colgate Circle, La Jolla, and who came to San Diego in 1951, is president of Allen Pharmacy and of Mid City Heights Development Co., a director of Sentinel Savings & Loan Association, and a member of the San Diego regional board of the Union Bank & Trust Co.

He has been involved in many community and service activities, including directorships of the United Jewish Federation and Temple Beth Israel and membership in the Lions Club of Clairemont, Pioneer Hook and Ladder Club, and Zeta Beta Tau fraternity alumni.

He is a member of the President's Council of Brandeis University, Waltham, Mass., and in 1966 was on the county grand jury.

Garfield's interest in youth has been evident in his support of all youth organizations in San Diego, with especially active participation in work of the Boys' Clubs, which he has served as a two-term vice president and a one-term president.

Garfield, with a group of associates, gave about four acres of land on which the present Clairemont club is located. He was active in a citywide campaign to raise funds to build and equip the club, which now serves more than 2,000 boys in the Clairemont area.

Mr. and Mrs. Garfield endowed a four-year college scholarship which, each year, assists a deserving Boys' Club member in attending a college of his own selection.

Garfield was one of the major donors to the campaign to add an enclosed swimming pool at the Clairemont Club. It is expected to be ready for use next summer.

More killers in the South

By L. M. BOYD
Special to the Sentinel

MURDERS — AMONG WHITES IN THE UNITED States, there are three, maybe four times as many murders in the South as in the North. Why? Wait—before you answer, note also: In Greece, in Spain, in Italy, there are three, maybe four times as many murders in the north of each as in the south. Curious, what?

A YALE RESEARCHER CLAIMS EVERY 10th marriage occurs between a man who was just out cruising and a girl who decided to let herself be picked up for the evening... What was the easiest job you ever had? Mine was an assignment once as a news broadcaster. Remarkable, while it lasted. Got full pay, but only worked 90 seconds a day... Say, that Remy de Gourmont was an earthy old Frenchman. It was his claim: "The woman one loves always smells good."

WHERE DO ELEPHANTS GO TO DIE? THAT'S another of those questions that keeps cropping up. When elephants get sick, they become feverish. When feverish, they want to bathe. So they go to the cool deep places in the waterways to submerge themselves. And when they die, they sink out of sight, that's all. More than once in Africa, a river has changed its course, exposing a great graveyard of elephant bones and a fortune in ivory. But that occurs rarely. Our Chief Prognosticator thinks skin divers soon will strip those rivers.

CUSTOMER SERVICE: Q. "THAT MOVIE 'SHANE'—where was it filmed?" A. In Wyoming's Jackson Hole country... Q. "What does your Name Game man say about girls called Jean?" A. They have great sensitivity and too much intelligence for comfort, he says... Q. "One out of every how many people is a genius?" A. Maybe one in 10,000.

COMPULSIVE BUYER—ARE YOU ACQUAINTED with a compulsive buyer? Not just somebody who likes to spend money. I mean somebody who can't resist a certain sort of item. Got a note this morning from a lady who says her husband is an uncontrollable pocket-knife purchaser. Owns 37, she says. Odd quirk, that. But many are so afflicted although specialties differ. Take the map collector. Know one fellow who has never said no to an atlas salesman. For my part, I ought not be left uncurbed among the clean steel tools in a hardware store.

LOVE AND WAR—"AFTER 40, MEN HAVE MARRIED their habits, and wives are only an item in the list, and not the most important." Such was the contention of George Meredith. That's too cynical a view. Our Love and War man doesn't accept it. It is that tendency to take wives for granted, he says, which is responsible for the increasing number of divorces among couples married 25 years or longer. Few years ago it was most unusual for a matrimonial pair to split up after their silver anniversary. Not anymore.

OPEN QUESTION — OUR LANGUAGE MAN doesn't know how a black eye came to be described as "mouse." Does anybody?

10 days left to enter Mesa 'Fairest' contest

Four more girls have entered the Miss Serra Mesa and Fairest of the Fair contest, contest chairman Ted Gavett announced yesterday.

The contest, sponsored by the Serra Mesa Merchants, will be at 1:30 p.m. May 4 in the Taft Junior High School auditorium.

New entrants are Madelynn Armstrong, 17; Susan Ledbetter, 17; Sharly Vessels, 19, and Lucy Bales, 19. Gavett said there are still ten days to enter by calling him at 277-6790 or by picking up an application blank from a Serra Mesa merchant.

He said the area winner will have special significance in this year's pageant, dedicated to San Diego's 200th anniversary, because the Mesa is named for Father Junipero Serra, "who started it all."

BURNHAM, PRIOR, OSUNA, McKINNON, HAZARD, SLAUGHTER
No need to keep snow out of the fans.

'Buttons' deck buses with 200th insignia

Necessity is usually the mother of invention, but to Mark Lowthian, superintendent of maintenance for the San Diego Transit Corp., it was different.

For Lowthian it was availability which set itself up as the mother of invention—and San Diego's 200th anniversary celebration is the beneficiary.

He and Tom Prior, SDTC general manager, both think the public will appreciate the effort, especially when they come face to face tomorrow with the large "button" which carries the 200th anniversary insignia.

These "buttons" are in fact covers for the air-conditioner units with which SDTC's newest buses are equipped. They are used to keep snow out of the fans—a real trouble in eastern states—but they have little use in San Diego's sunny climate.

What to do with them was Lowthian's burning question, and after much thought he came up with the 200th anniversary idea.

Officials of San Diego's 200th anniversary celebration were pleased with the idea, which also received the unanimous approval of the corporation's board of directors.

Earl Underwood, paint shop foreman, was called in for expert advice and soon the project was under way. The 100 buttons first received a coat of amber paint (an official 200th color) and then were sent out for silk-screening of the logo insignia in blue (the official SDTC color).

The finished job met with approval from all concerned even the maintenance crew, which has the job of fixing them to the sides of the buses.

"This was a 100 percent cooperative effort from the word go," said Prior when the first of the 27-inch "buttons" was fixed in position.

On hand to place the first one in position were Malin Burnham, SDTC director; Prior; Ernie Osuna El Hidalgo de San Diego; Clinton D. McKinnon, board chairman, and Bruce Hazard and John B. Slaughter, directors.

Demonstrators at Trenfel Salesmen Riot up any deal

In an angry protest against the high cost of living, 10 salesmen at Trenfel Toyotaland in Pacific Beach will hold a "sell in" this weekend.

A spokesman for the group stated that all customers will be given an opportunity to be heard and that any bonafide offer, no matter how ridiculous, will be submitted for consideration. Trenfel Toyotaland at 942 Grand Avenue in Pacific Beach is overstocked on Toyotas, Land Cruisers, Corollas, Triumph Spitfire TR-6's, Demonstrators, executive cars and used cars. As an all-out effort to escalate sales, the establishment has agreed to fight the war on poverty and reduce the cost of living through low prices, high trade-ins and happy customers!

Town Talk

BY MARY FISHEL

EVER SLEEP . . . under the stars? Cook on an open fire? Make new friends singing around an open fire? Well, your invitation to "fun" is with the San Diego Council of Camp Fire Girls . . . camp registration opened April 15 for Camp Wolahi in the beautiful Cuyamaca Mountains. If you would like to look it over first (parents I mean) there will be an open house June 21 and June 22 from noon to 4 p.m., according to Cherie Price, coordinator of development and information.

I will never forget the first time I went to camp . . . the first in Butler County, Penna., for GIRLS . . . Girl Reserves. It was at Slippery Rock Creek (a really beautiful place if you have never been there) . . . it rained all week . . . we were in tents with mud floors . . . we finally had to move everything to the "One and Only Building" named "The Barn" but in spite of torrents of rain . . . not enough food (because it was the first) we had so much fun . . . experiences . . . you never forget in a lifetime!

Camp Wolahi will open July 6 through Aug. 23 for seven one-week sessions with Miss Judy Wilks, camp director . . . Mrs. James V. Madaffer of Clairemont is the executive director.

College-age girls are hired as counselors, unit directors, specialists and waterfront directors.

Training for camp is held June 29 through July 4 . . . located near Cuyamaca Dam, the camp covers about 60 acres of wooded land . . . almost 800 girls enjoy a week of outdoor activities including swimming, hiking, campcraft, nature lore, singing and creative play.

Camp Wolahi does NOT have tents with mud floors . . . it has cabins . . . tent platforms . . . Adirondacks teepees . . . a hogan . . . dining hall (The Old Red Barn) . . . health house . . . camp director's office and counselor's lodge.

The Blue Birds (youngest) are "Squirrels" and live in cabins with one counselor for eight girls . . . Thunderbirds (first year CFG) live in tent platforms . . . Warriors (sixth graders) live in the Adirondacks . . . three-sided block building. Miss Eileen Storey of Point Loma will be the unit director.

Junior High members (the Teepees) live in authentic Indian teepees and cook most of their meals outdoors . . . girls entering the eighth grade, who have completed the first two signposts are eligible to register for the Gypsy Unit . . . they do all their own planning and cooking . . . live in their own unit high above the central camp . . . how lucky can you get?

Further information or forms can be obtained by calling the CF Office at 233-3157.

MRS. SUE WALKER . . . of Pacific Beach was 95 years old April 16 . . . not just that, she BOWLS in the Pacific Beach Bowling Center once a week . . . and as a matter of fact received a letter from the very famous professional bowler Don Carter, because she didn't start bowling until she was 87!

Her family were pioneers in the state of Washington in 1883 . . . and she rode the first railroad from St. Paul, Minnesota to Spokane . . . which at that time had 150 residents and a river running right through the center of town!

Mrs. Walker was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeNeffe . . . there were seven children, Sue, Marie, Anna, Louise, Charles, James and Fred.

But I will bet, not one of the seven except Mrs. Walker ever bowled and had a score of 208 at the age of 87!

Woman's club to hear reports

The 12 directors, chairmen of all standing committees and Las Socias Nuevas evening department will report on their activities of the past year. A discussion will follow these reports.

Christmas...

There are still more than 200 shopping days until Christmas. However, American Red Cross volunteers are beginning "Operation Shop Early" through which gift (ditty) bags will be provided for US servicemen and women in Vietnam at Christmas, according to Mrs. Arthur Heilbron of Point Loma, San Diego County Red Cross chairman of volunteers.

Santa's helpers in San Diego County along with 1,600 other Red Cross chapters throughout the nation will take part in the annual project which is in its fourth year.

Many community service organizations, religious groups, business firms and local industries will participate in the program with Red Cross volunteers. They will help make the draw-string denim "ditty" bags and provide many of the gift items to fill them.

At least eight items such as ballpoint pens, cigarette lighters, small packets of writing paper and envelopes, plastic cigarette cases, combs, nailfiles and pocket games will be placed in each bag.

Often the "ditty" bags remain serviceable for the owner's personal effects long after the original contents are used.

According to the preparation schedule the bags will be sewn during spring and early summer while items for the bags are being collected, said Mrs. Myrl Randel, production chairman.

During the latter part of the summer the bags will be filled and a holiday greeting identifying the Red Cross chapter and clubs, businesses and individuals providing the gifts will be placed in the bags. They are to be packed and shipped by Sept. 30.

More than 500,000 "ditty" bags were delivered individually last year just before Christmas by Red Cross field directors, clubmobile girls, hospital workers and recreation workers in Vietnam.

The response from servicemen who received the bags was overwhelming. Thousands wrote to thank chapter volunteers, and some said Red Cross gifts were the only ones they received.

'Sex Information' set for LJ Republicans

John Steinbacher, former teacher, author and journalist, will present a discussion and film on Sex Information and Education Council in the United States (SIECUS) for the La Jolla Republican Women's Club, Fed., at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the La Jolla Community Center.

According to Mrs. Calvin Wiersema, president of the club, the program is being presented as a public service.

"We have no quarrel with the original official Family Living program of San Diego Unified School District, given we understand at junior high level to boys and girls separately with parental consent required, and we assume it has not been expanded to include SIECUS or similar material," she said.

"We are concerned for American children elsewhere who are not so fortunate and for the future of local children lest future boards and superintendents be influenced by the bad example of other communities or yield to pressure from the National Educational Association which has endorsed SIECUS, and from the federal government, which has financed it."

Preceding Steinbacher, Mrs. James O. Pike will make a brief legislative report. Mrs. L. Clay Terry will give additional information on the May 28 luncheon at the Caramaran. John Morley will speak.

Steinbacher was graduated from Pacific University in Oregon and has done graduate studies at four schools. He has taught at San Rafael Military Academy and in public schools for several years.

Having worked for weekly newspapers while in Oregon, he left teaching and joined the staff of Freedom Press in Los Angeles as reporter and editor. He then took his present position as staff writer for the Anaheim Bulletin.

He served four years as medical corpsman, taking his training at San Diego Naval Hospital. He is the author of five books and has completed the script for a long play album on SIECUS.

Your children, in their formative years, need to:
... LEARN RESPONSIBILITY
... LEARN TO USE INITIATIVE, IN THIS WORLD OF COMPETITION.
... LEARN TO MEET PEOPLE
... LEARN THE VALUE OF A DOLLAR

The Sentinel needs young businessmen from 10 to 12½ years of age, to bring this community newspaper to you and your neighbors.

From this first business experience these youngsters learn invaluable lessons that help them in the future. We of the Sentinel work closely with these youngsters and you, their parents. We too are parents, therefore we make sure the problems faced by these youngsters are not beyond their abilities, particularly with our help and your help.

If you have a youngster in this age bracket, call the Circulation Department of this paper, 274-3212, and let us discuss our carrier program with you and your child.

Control zones
out for winter

The control zones along San Diego beaches have been abolished for the period from November through March.

The City Council voted
Thursday to adopt the Park and Recreation Board's recommendation to maintain control zones only from April 1 through Oct.
31 of each year.

Control zones, which separate swimmers from surfers, are not necessary during the winter months, the council decided, because few swimmers brave the cold water.

Surfing, however, goes on the entire year, a city manager's report pointed out. "It seems illogical to deprive surfers of the use of these areas during the winter months when they are not being used by swimmers."

Assigned rank

Navy Ensign John G. Vi-oli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Vivoli 8672 Raejean
Ave., Kearny mesa, was commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve on completion of the Aviation Officer course at the Naval Aviation Schools Command, Pensacola, Fla.

The 11-week course included instruction in Naval history and world affairs, Naval justice, leadership and orientation.

With the inauguration of direct airline service to Russia the number of American tourists going there is increasing but there is no great trend toward Russian tourists coming to America.

The trouble today, according to the average American, is that he is getting more government than he is paying for.
